

Every company that is registered outside the United States must obtain a DUNS to enter into contracts with the government of the country and receive a grant.

How do I get a DUNS number?

It takes a long time to complete the registration procedure on the D&B portal, and the result is not fully guaranteed. Not everyone can do it the first time, and the number of failures is quite high. We advise you to look for alternative options. Our company RegService is ready to offer such an alternative. To begin with, you will have to fill out a special questionnaire (our specialists are ready to offer assistance in filling it out). As a result, you will receive professional support, as our employees have extensive experience and can solve a wide variety of issues.

What information is provided for DUNS registration?

To register a number, you will have to prepare the following information:

- name of the company;
- actual, legal address of the company's location;
- information related to the owner;
- form of organization;
- date when the company was established;
- type of activity.

Also, when applying, be sure to indicate the number of people working in the firm.

How long does the registration procedure take?

The usual procedure takes approximately 30 days. However, due to the fact that we have streamlined every process, specialists get the desired result in a maximum of 3 days. Our company has been helping corporate clients obtain DUNS numbers for many years.

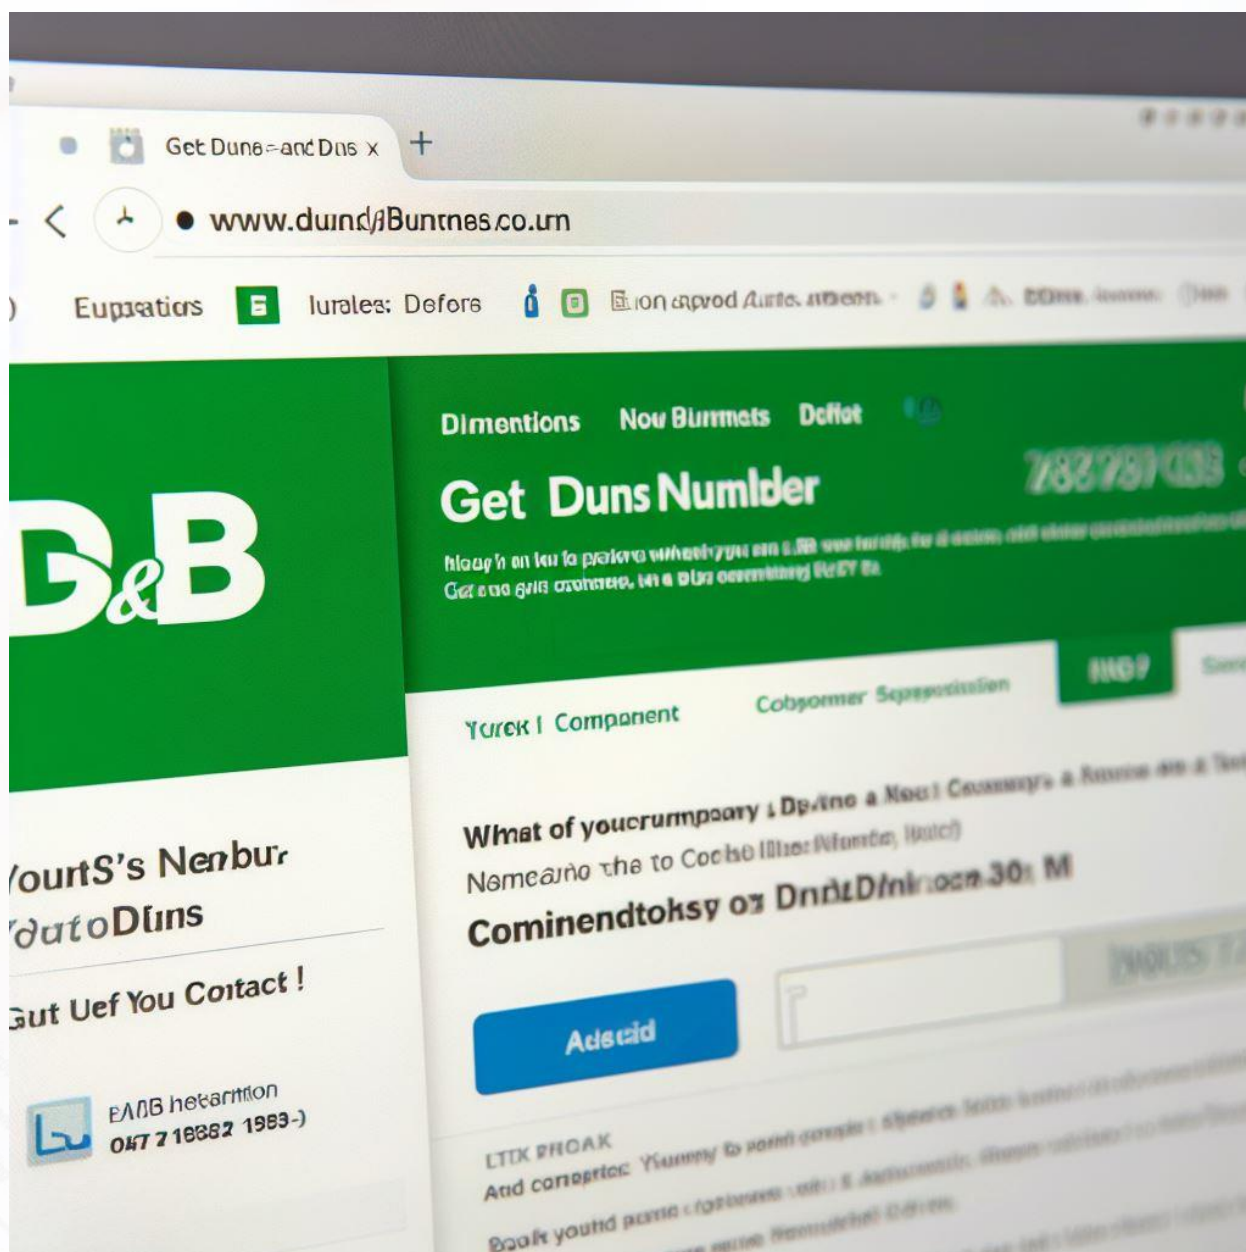

Design features for foreign companies

Companies that are not located in the United States must register on the Dun & Bradstreet website. In order to start cooperating with the government of this country and prepare tax reports correctly, the company additionally obtains an identification number.

What are the purposes of obtaining a DUNS number?

You need to register a unique identifier in order to:

1. Prepare applications for contracts. The federal government of the country requires company owners applying for grants to obtain a DUNS.
2. Establish cooperation with potential partners. A representative of each company or individual gets the opportunity to view the company's rating using the DUNS number. For certain organizations, this is an ideal option. Thanks to this solution, the owner can make sure that his company is financially stable and operates reliably.
3. Develop applications. For example, Apple requires iOS developers to use a unique identifier when creating an account. As a rule, this is necessary to standardize the process of sending an application.
4. Register suppliers. Some companies that sell goods retail require that the supplier has a unique number. This makes it possible to find standardized information about the partner faster.

1. apply for an SSL certificate. The presence of a number is considered an optional requirement, but it makes it possible to speed up the process and promptly provide the necessary data. The certificate allows companies to make their websites absolutely secure.

2. Get a business loan. The owner can create his credit history and actively build confidence in his business.

3. Track credit reports. Using the code, you can study the updated information about your company in the main database, correct all errors in the reports.

Also, to receive financing. A good credit rating makes it possible to make applications for loans, large loans, and other additional financing.
